GLENN NEWSON MENTOR PROFILE

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT ME

I am the youngest son from a large family and grew up in rural New Zealand.

Leaving school as soon as possible I gained an electrical apprenticeship in the domestic and commercial industry. Completing the 4 years training with awards I started work for a full time contractor, this is where my interest in property began.

I moved to the UK on 15th July 1999. I spent the next 8 years building a medium/ large electrical contracting business as well as buying and renovating my own properties. In 2008 I picked up a book called Rich Dad Poor Dad and my interest in property doubled with every chapter. In 2009 I made the decision to sell my hard built electrical business and started my training with Legacy, fully committed to property investment.

Hello

TRIED AND TESTED...

Using the tried and tested knowledge and techniques unselfishly supplied to me by the trainers and mentors, I built a large portfolio of cashflowing HMO's and increased the number of refurbishments completed while starting two new businesses. One in property sourcing to help work with like minded investors and the other in HMO property lettings to manage the ever growing portfolio.

In 2014 I realised another unknown passion I had and that is to help others down the same path I have travelled. I was invited back to Legacy to mentor and to date have helped and guided hundreds of investors towards their goals.

My latest achievement was to win the BBC 1 York "Best Flat in Town 2019" and help start a local to where I live investors monthly meeting.
